Shared Major Agreement:
Political Science and Communication & Rhetorical Studies

Political Science (first major) and Communication & Rhetorical Studies (second major)

Political Science: students complete all requirements for the political science degree (30 political science credits, 6 of which count for both political science and C&RS).

Communication & Rhetorical Studies: students complete 24 C&RS credits as described here:

Both of these required courses (6 credits):

- COMM 301W: History of Communication
- COMM 494W: Communication Ethics

One of the following courses, depending on the major selected (3 credits):

- COMM 201: Human Communication in a Technological Age (Communication Studies)
- COMM 206: Communication in the Marketplace (Integrated Marketing Communication)
- COMM 304W: Persuasion (Rhetoric)
- COMM 407: Intercultural Communication (Corporate Communication)

15 credits of COMM electives corresponding to Communication Studies, Integrated Marketing Communication, Rhetoric, or Corporate Communication (see advising sheets for these majors).