September 21, Karim Barakat, “Foucault’s Critical Subject,” Pittsburgh Area Philosophy Colloquium, Pittsburgh, PA.

Among others, a full list of which can be found on our department website.

Publications

Among others, a full list of which can be found on our department website.

We would like to announce the hiring of Dr. Jay Lampert.
Dr. Lampert received his Ph.D. from the University of Toronto in 1987 and specializes in Twentieth Century Continental Philosophy, frequently working with figures such as Deleuze, Hegel and Husserl. Dr. Lampert has three published books: Simultaneity and Delay (Continuum, 2012), Deleuze and Guattari’s Philosophy of History (Continuum, 2006), and Synthesis and Backward Reference in Husserl’s Logical Investigations (Kluwer, 1995). Dr. Lampert also has published articles in a variety of different philosophical areas. Our department is very pleased to welcome such a distinguished scholar to the University. We look forward to his continued excellence as a teacher, a philosopher and a colleague.

The philosophy department would like to announce that Dr. Thomas Rockmore has received the title of Professor Emeritus. Dr. Rockmore has published over 200 books and over 400 scholarly articles (many of which have been translated into other languages). Dr. Rockmore had previously held the position of Distinguished McNally Professor of Philosophy. We are pleased to announce that his time at Duquesne has been honored with the title of Professor Emeritus.

Jacob Greenstein was awarded the 2013-14 Fulbright Fellowship. He has spent the year in Kassel, Germany; conducting research for his dissertation on non-being in Aristotle’s Metaphysics with Prof. Dr. Gottfried Heinemann.