RENEWED COMMITMENT

Duquesne University President Dr. Charles Dougherty and Director of Athletics Greg Amadio announced in late January that Duquesne accepted an invitation from commissioner Brenda Weare to become an associate member of the Northeast Conference in the sport of football. Duquesne, a member of the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference Football League since 1994, will begin participation in the NEC beginning with the 2008 football season. Duquesne will complete its final season as a member of the MAAC Football League in 2007.

“Our decision to join the NEC is a renewed University commitment to football,” said Dougherty. “We have a long and highly successful tradition in the sport. With our new conference and the addition of scholarships, the future of Duquesne football is not only secure but also bright and exciting.”

With the move to the NEC, Duquesne will grant 18 scholarships beginning in February of 2008 and will increase that number by two for the ensuing three years. Duquesne granted only need-based financial aid for football playing student-athletes as a member of the MAAC.

The NEC Football League, which was established in 1996, includes full time conference members Central Connecticut State University, Monmouth University, Robert Morris University, Sacred Heart University, Saint Francis (Pa.) University and Wagner College along with associate member the University at Albany.

WHAT’S NEW AT DU

OMA UNITY BANQUET

The Office of Multicultural Affairs is pleased to host the University’s first Unity Banquet & Scholarship Benefit on Friday, April 20 in the Union Ballroom. The event will celebrate diversity and academic excellence among Duquesne’s community of scholars and establish a scholarship fund for students served under the umbrella of the OMA.

Dinner begins at 6 p.m., followed by a keynote address by Juan Williams, award-winning journalist, political analyst and author. One of the nation’s most dynamic speakers and critical thinkers, Williams is the senior correspondent for National Public Radio (NPR), a political analyst with FOX News, and an acclaimed writer whose works include Eyes on the Prize, My Soul Looks Back in Wonder: Voices of the Civil Rights Experience and Thurgood Marshall: American Revolutionary. Previously, Williams served as a columnist and White House correspondent for The Washington Post.

Students interested in networking and celebrating diversity are invited to attend free of charge. Space is limited and Advance Reservations are required. To reserve a seat, please email oma@duq.edu as soon as possible.

Duquesne University BOOKSTORE

The newest building on campus is well underway and scheduled to be completed by the Spring 2008 semester! Floor plans have been drawn and contracts signed, and Duquesne is excited to report that in addition to a new recreation center, Barnes & Noble, Starbucks, and Ballroom, the building on Forbes will also house The RED RING, a full-service restaurant and bar. This facility will seat over 200 people and feature a stage for entertainment, flat screen televisions, and a full breakfast, lunch, and dinner menu. Check the fall edition of BluffStuff for more info!

FOUNDERS WEEK INSPIRES STUDENTS

Each year, the campus community honors Spiritan Congregation founding fathers Claude Poullart des Places, C.S.Sp., and the Venerable Francis Libermann, C.S.Sp., during Founders Week. This year’s celebration, held Jan. 28 through Feb. 2, included Masses, a prayer service, and several luncheon presentations for students, designed to deepen their level of knowledge of the different aspects of the Spiritan charism and history.

New for 2007 was a Student Essay and Poetry Contest that yielded dozens of outstanding submissions. Students were asked to describe how the Spiritan charism impacted their views on social justice and peace issues, both in and out of the classroom. The winning entries were an essay by senior Tess Madden and a poem by freshman Eden Antalik.

Madden, a history major, described how “the academic, service and social opportunities at Duquesne have raised my consciousness of the world, transformed my approach to service and social action, and enriched my understanding of how the Holy Spirit is present in my life.”

Antalik, who is majoring in international business and political science, wrote a poem that applied Spiritan values of peace, prayer and unity to the very contemporary issues of violence and injustice that were associated with September’s campus shooting incident. She wrote:

“. . .Together, together. We came and pushed away the darkness and sin. We love, we share, we are foundations together and comfort can be found from education, from work, from friendship, from love, from Within. Within.”

Complete texts of the winning student essay and poem can be found online at www.mission.duq.edu.

WHAT WILL BE IN THE NEW BUILDING ON FORBES?

The newest building on campus is well underway and scheduled to be completed by the Spring 2008 semester! SPRING GRADUATION

The University will honor graduating students with a University-wide Commencement ceremony to be held at 5 p.m. on Friday, May 4, 2007. The Baccalaureate Mass will precede this ceremony at 3 p.m. in the Duquesne Union Ballroom, and a reception on Academic Walk will follow. President Charles J. Dougherty will officially confer all degrees upon the graduates. General Michael Hayden, BA’67, MA’69, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, will be the keynote speaker.

On Saturday, May 5, each school will hold individual diploma ceremonies to personally recognize each graduating student with the traditional distribution of diploma jackets. The schedule follows:

McAnulty College and Graduate School of Liberal Arts
A.J. Palumbo Center 9:00 a.m.

Mary Pappert School of Music
Union Ballroom 9:00 a.m.

A.J. Palumbo School of Business Administration
John F. Donahue Graduate School of Business
A.J. Palumbo Center 12:00 noon

School of Nursing

Bayer School of Natural and Environmental Sciences
Union Ballroom 3:00 p.m.

John G. Rangos, Sr. School of Health Sciences
A.J. Palumbo Center 6:00 p.m.

Separate commencement events will be held for the Mylan School of Pharmacy on Saturday, May 19 and for the School of Law on Sunday, June 3.

Due to space limitations, each student may obtain up to four tickets to the University-wide Commencement. There will be no limit on guest attendance for the Saturday ceremonies. For more details, visit www.registrar.duq.edu/commencement.

FRESHMAN MENTORING PROGRAM In The School of Education

With the support of Dean Olga Welch, the School of Education has implemented a cohort experience for freshmen as they transition from high school to college life. The first semester four mandatory sessions were: “How to Study and Time Management” with Ruth Boykin; “Safety on and off Campus” with Sgt. Frank Cortazzo and Det. Ron Lenhart; “Relationships” with Denise Gallucci, and finally, “FaceBook.com and MySpace.com” with Susan Monahan.

The five Spring programs include:
- An interactive workshop “How to Party Smartly” by Sarah Clegg, Coordinator DU CARES, exposes the dangers of binge drinking and encourages healthy attitudes and good decision making.
- “When Mom’s Rules Apply Again” with Dr. Sue Bumer, University Counseling Center, includes a discussion on any concerns freshmen may have about returning home for the summer after experiencing the freedom and independence of their freshman year.
- A program by Eileen Crossley, Health Educator, to delve into college students becoming independent health care consumers and the importance of understanding that wellness encompasses physical, emotional and spiritual health.
- A seminar by Jake McElligott, School of Education, entitled “You’ll Be Teaching in 1,000 Days” focusing freshmen education students on the fact that their teaching careers will be upon them much quicker than they think. The seminar introduces freshmen to the career services available at Duquesne, with a special focus on the availability of part-time and summer jobs to help them build child-centered/education-related experiences.

Commencement BRUNCH

The Student Government Association Annual Commencement Brunch will be on Thursday, May 3 at noon. This is the last chance for the Class of 2007 to spend time together to look back on their time at Duquesne. All seniors can expect an invitation in the mail shortly.

Venture OUTDOORS

Beginning in the Fall 2007 semester, the Office of Student Activities will be working with Venture Outdoors to sponsor weekend outdoor recreational programming. Through a generous donation from the R.K. Mellon Foundation, students will have the opportunity to participate in various outdoor activities every Saturday, including White Water Rafting, Rock Climbing, Horseback Riding, Kayaking/Canoeing, Caving, Downhill Skiing and Snowboarding, and Cross Country Skiing.

Students wishing to take advantage of this opportunity may purchase a ticket for $10.00 (price includes transportation and boxed lunch) at the Union Information Desk.

For more information, please visit the Office of Student Activities web site.

ATLANTIC 10 HONORS

A pair of Dukes were honored by the Atlantic 10 for their performance this past season. Freshman forward Robert Mitchell was named the conference Rookie of the Year and junior center Kieron Achara was named men's basketball Student-Athlete of the Year.

Mitchell, who led the Dukes with a 16.4 ppg. scoring average, is just the second Duquesne player to win the A-10's top rookie honor, joining Bruce Atkins who was the league's Rookie of the Year in 1978-79.

The Duquesne Athletics Media Relations Department logged 173 stories written on the men's basketball program in the eight weeks between September 17 and December 1. Electronic and print media outlets that visited the Duquesne campus during the year included the Boston Globe, Caracol News (Columbia), CBS Sports, ESPN, ESPN.com & ESPN The Magazine, NBCSports.com, The Sporting News, USA Today, Voice of America, Washington Post and YahooSports.com among others. A few of the additional news outlets that filed stories include: Basketball Times, Boston Herald, Falkirk Today (Scotland), London Times, Miami Herald, Newsday, Philadelphia Inquirer, Toronto Star, Toronto Sun, Washington Times and Sports Illustrated.

Basketball Dukes Named MOST COURAGEOUS

First-year Duquesne men's basketball coach Ron Everhart, who began the season with a roster decimated by a mid-September incident, guided the Dukes to a 10-19 record including wins over NCAA Tournament teams Boston College and Xavier.

Duquesne, picked to finish 13th in the 14-team Atlantic 10 in a preseason vote of league coaches, earned a spot in the 2007 Atlantic 10 Championship and won admirers from coast-to-coast with their tenacious playing style that featured a five-game late-January/early-February win streak that included wins over Dayton, Temple, Xavier, St. Bonaventure and La Salle.

In recognition of the Dukes’ spirited play in the face of adversity, the United States Basketball Writers Association presented the Dukes with the organization’s Most Courageous Award at a breakfast prior to the NCAA National Championship game in Atlanta on April 2.

The award, which is presented annually to honor “a player, coach, official or administrator who has demonstrated extraordinary courage reflecting honor on the sport of amateur basketball,” was accepted by head coach Ron Everhart.

ORIENTATION

This year’s Orientation theme challenges new students to choose their own paths in life, overcome the detours and wrong turns along the way, and realize, in the end, it is up to them to make their own decisions now. The Orientation staff of over 180 students has been working very diligently to prepare many new and exciting additions to the program along with classic favorites like comedians and entertainers. We look forward to seeing the campus come alive in August!
The 2006-07 winter sports season was full of excitement and success as the Dukes broke numerous school records, received dozens of awards and produced a couple of all-time school-best finishes.

Men’s Swimming
The Dukes boasted a perfect showing against Atlantic 10 opponents for the first time in school history, going 5-0 against league foes during the regular season. That success carried over into the Atlantic 10 Championship where the Red and Blue placed third, the highest finish in Duquesne swimming history. In all the Dukes broke nine of the 14 individual school records and all five relay records. Senior Eric Bugby collected seven medals (3 individual, 4 relay) and set seven school records at the Atlantic 10 Championship.

Women’s Swimming
The Red and Blue placed a University all-time best fourth at the Atlantic 10 Championship for the second straight year. Senior Melissa Johnson had a hand in setting six Duquesne school records, breaking three individual standards and helping to set three relay marks. She also won a gold medal at A-10’s in the 100-yard freestyle. Senior Liz Yager set three school records and won a gold medal at A-10’s in the 1,650-yard freestyle event.

Wrestling
The DU wrestling season was highlighted by a school record for wins in a season and two wrestlers qualifying for the NCAA Championships. The Dukes posted a 13-11 record and had four victories in winning the East Region Duals. At the season-ending NCAA East Region Championship, junior Cody Midlam and senior Jared Ricotta won the championships at their respective weight classes and earned automatic bids to the NCAA’s.

Women’s Basketball
Senior Loui Hall led the Dukes in scoring and rebounding as the Red and Blue finished with a 7-20 record. Hall averaged 14.3 points and 6.3 rebounds per game. Fellow senior Carmen Bruce was second in scoring at 12.5 points per game. DU boasted Atlantic 10 victories over Saint Louis and St. Bonaventure and won the Cornell Classic.

Women’s Soccer
The Duquesne women’s soccer team completed a six-day trip to Scotland and England over spring break. While overseas, the Dukes competed against two of the top teams from their respective countries and enjoyed a cultural learning experience as well.

The team toured Scotland’s Edinburgh Castle before watching an SPL Pro game between Hibernian and the Glasgow Rangers. The next day they traveled to Sterling Castle and to the Wallace National Monument before their match against Glasgow of the Scottish Premier League. The Dukes defeated Glasgow, which was sitting in second place in its league, 3-1.

After the stop in Scotland, the ladies traveled to England where along the way they stopped at the Moffat Woolen Mill and Old Trafford Stadium, which is home to Manchester United of the Champions League. The next day the team visited Chester, England for sightseeing and shopping before attending the Champions League match between Manchester United and Lille, which Manchester United won 1-0. The women concluded their trip with a match against Charlton Athletic of the English Premier League.

During the journey, the 40-person traveling party ran into a number of Duquesne alums including Chris Vukelich, class of 1977, former CEO of International Markets for Cendant Travel Distribution Services. Vukelich was a classmate of DU Director of Financial Aid Rich Esposito (also class of ’77) who was along on the trip. Rich’s daughter, Michelle, just completed her sophomore season at forward for the Dukes.
FRESHMEN HONORED
For Academic Excellence

On April 9, Duquesne University will honor more than 210 first year students at an induction ceremony to Phi Eta Sigma, a national college and scholastic honor society for freshmen. The Duquesne University chapter, organized in 1983, recognizes students who earned grade point averages ranging from 3.5 to 4.0 during their first semester at Duquesne.
