I know you’re getting a lot of college brochures in the mail. When I was in high school, I did too. And sometimes, it felt like everyone was saying the same thing.

Here’s the thing.

Duquesne really is different. And I love it.

I want to tell you why Duquesne was the right choice for me. And it might just be the right choice for you, too.
My senior year of high school, I applied to a lot of schools. Nearly a dozen. I wanted to keep my options open.

But as soon as I stepped foot on Duquesne’s campus for a tour, my decision was made. I knew this would be my college home.

Duquesne is this beautiful campus on a hill, overlooking downtown Pittsburgh, South Side and one of the city’s three rivers. And if you take a five-minute walk down the hill (we call it the Bluff), you’re in the middle of everything the city has to offer.

A location that will inspire you.
Home away from home.

This is where I take my favorite class on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

I love going to Dukes games and watching my friends play.

Mexican, pizza, Starbucks coffee - the Union has my appetite covered.

The views from Pittsburgh's riverfront trails are just the best.

Market Square has awesome cafes and restaurants.

From Lady Gaga to the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, entertainment options are endless.

It’s great to be within walking distance of Steelers, Pirates and Pens games.

I hit the gym at the Power Center.

It’s so great to run into friends walking down A-Walk.

Some extra help with freshman year.

Students who apply to Duquesne and show potential but don’t meet requirements for direct admission may be invited to enroll in the Gussin Spiritan Division. This highly successful first-year program has helped hundreds of students transition from high school to college with personal guidance and learning assistance.
Your education goes beyond the syllabus.
Because learning at Duquesne happens everywhere. You can be engaged in your field from the moment you step on campus. Whether it’s hands-on research, patient interaction or teaching local students, there are opportunities in all of Duquesne’s programs.

My Duquesne education took me to Pope Francis’ papal visit in Philadelphia, where I had full press credentials and worked with three other students to take hundreds of hours of footage. I edited the video—along with 30 interviews and thousands of photos—into a documentary that was screened on campus with Pittsburgh’s Bishop Zubik in attendance.

It was great real-world experience and the opportunity of a lifetime!

Doing more.
And doing it with honors.
The Duquesne University Honors College serves high-achieving student scholars who are committed to academic excellence. Diverse and selective, the college provides its students with one-on-one support and benefits that include:

- Enhanced-track core curriculum
- Early registration for classes
- Fellows Program
- An honors distinction on your diploma and transcript
- Special social events and weekly breakfasts

If you meet the academic requirements for the Honors College, you’ll receive an invitation to join. You can also apply at duq.edu/honors-college.

That’s me!
Reporting for DUQ-TV.
Duquesne has given me so many opportunities to spread my wings. And one of my favorites has to be the Spring Breakaway course that took me to Paris, France.

With Spring Breakaway classes, you take a course at Duquesne throughout the spring semester, and you travel with your class—including your professor—over spring break.

My class was Travel Writing, so we read and discussed travel essays when we were on campus, and practiced writing, too. Then when we were in Paris, we kept a daily journal that we turned into an extended travel journal when we were back in Pittsburgh. It was très magnifique!

My Paris Must-See’s:
• The Eiffel Tower (obviously!)
• The Louvre
• The Arc de Triomphe
• An authentic boulangerie for a real Parisian croissant

Duquesne offers a special semester-long program in Italy. Take classes taught by Duquesne professors and others in one of the world’s most iconic cities.

Duquesne in Dublin
Through Duquesne in Dublin, you can live with fellow Duquesne students at St. Michael’s House—a restored 1860s Spiritan mansion—and take classes at the University College Dublin.

Short-Term Study Abroad Programs
If a full term won’t work, apply to the Maymester, Spring Breakaway or summer study abroad programs. Get the same global experience, just on a shorter term.

Want to explore another country? Check Duquesne’s website for a full list of programs available to you around the world.

Locations Worldwide
Go almost anywhere you can imagine.
And then go even further!

96% of students who study abroad say the experience boosts their self-confidence.
Welcome to everywhere.
And it’s exactly where you’re going.

A big reason you’re considering Duquesne is because you want solid preparation that will help launch a career after graduation. We’ll get you there.

You’ll be connected with internship opportunities with hundreds of great employers in downtown Pittsburgh and beyond. From Fortune 500 companies to local nonprofits and beyond. Many of them are eager for the fresh thinking you’ll offer as a Duquesne student and graduate.

Our grads go to work for leading companies, nonprofits, and public institutions. A few big names include:

- Alcoa
- Apple
- American Eagle Outfitters
- BNY Mellon
- Cleveland Clinic
- CVS Caremark
- Dalkia
- Dick’s Sporting Goods
- Ernst & Young
- ESPN

I’ve had three great internship experiences during my time at Duquesne. I wrote game reports and feature articles for the Pittsburgh Sports Report. I created digital content—including a series of videos—for WESA 90.5 FM. And I piloted the first-ever corporate historian internship for Eat’n Park Hospitality Group.

Many of our alumni are professionals, more than willing to make new contacts and mentor students just starting out in their careers. Connect and find alumni in all types of organizations, in nearly every industry, across the nation and abroad.

of our students go to graduate schools including American, Columbia, Florida State, George Mason, Notre Dame, Syracuse, and of course, Duquesne.
We know you have a bright career ahead. Fortunately, so do the people in charge of it—executives at big-time companies like the Kraft Heinz Company and PNC.

You're hardworking. The strong work ethic you bring to courses and campus activities at Duquesne also sets you apart in the office.

You're well prepared for the job and eager to learn more. Your Duquesne education gives you the intellectual firepower you need to do great work, ask even better questions, and advance in your career.

You're ethical. You carry a strong moral compass with you at all times—and you have the courage to use it.

You're dependable. Basically, when it matters most, you’re the one they trust to get it done. This combines work ethic, accountability, and excellence into one mega quality.

You bring great perspectives to the workplace. You understand different viewpoints, you spot broader trends, and you connect the dots to make valuable insights.

Hired education.
Spiritus est Qui vivificat.
It is the Spirit Who gives life.

ALL ARE WELCOME HERE.

We’re a Catholic university, so faith plays an important role. And we have a very broad and diverse group of students who nurture mind, heart and spirit in different ways.

A Catholic education in the Spiritan tradition.
It’s what we do here. But what does it really mean?

You’ll see the Spiritan tradition alive on campus and beyond in the way we treat one another, the way we learn and in how we view the world.

Who we are today has a lot to do with who we were yesterday. Founded in 1878 to serve Pittsburgh’s immigrant population, Duquesne was built on a core set of values that guide us even now. We believe in building community, in having a global vision, in promoting high academic standards, and in a commitment to service.

And first and foremost, everyone at Duquesne is here to make sure you succeed, academically and throughout life.

The spirit we share with the world.

Serving others is part of the Spiritan way. Every student gets involved outside the classroom. There’s research with real-world impact. Cooperative projects. Internships. Community-engaged learning. And so much more.

Join up with others and get out into the world. duq.edu/service

I’ve had a lot of opportunities to feel like I’m making a difference for people right here in the Pittsburgh region. As a work chair for my sorority’s annual Make-a-Wish Pageant, I’ve helped raise tens of thousands of dollars to help regional kids have their wishes granted. And freshman year, through one of my core curriculum classes, I worked with the Greater Pittsburgh Literacy Council to help non-native English speakers master the language.

Here, you’ll have the power to make the world a better place.

Your Duquesne education could take you:

• To underserved communities to administer free vaccinations
• To Africa to deliver medical supplies and provide care
• Into Pittsburgh’s rivers to monitor water quality
• To Pittsburgh companies to help develop marketing plans
• To Florida to work alongside migrant workers
• To Appalachia to help restore homes in disrepair
Is it Duquesneable?

No matter what you do at Duquesne, you’ll be driven by a fundamental question:

That means being willing to take risks.
Being open to all ideas and all people.
Doing the right thing, even when no one’s watching.
Doing more for others and for the world.
Thinking big in every small moment.

And it’ll make a lot more sense once you get here.
After hitting the books, go have some fun!

1. CHEER FOR THE BLACK & GOLD
   - Three major sports teams—the Steelers, Penguins and Pirates—play within walking distance of campus.

2. TAKE IN THE CULTURE
   - Pittsburgh is an arts hotbed. Galleries and museums are everywhere.

3. HAVE FUN ON THE WATER
   - Get to know the Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio rivers that frame downtown.

4. GO TO A LIVE CONCERT
   - From free concerts at Point State Park to arena headliners.

5. HIT THE TRAIL
   - Pittsburgh boasts 26 miles of river trails for running and biking.

6. BECOME A CONNOISSEUR
   - Diner grub fanatic? Fine-dining explorer? Pittsburgh has a restaurant for you. (Like Primanti’s. Where the fries aren’t on the side.)

There are plenty of things to do right here on the Bluff, too.

You’ll get used to having big, free events on campus—concerts, touring comedians, movies and even wing nights.

For every late night.

The Union NiteSpot is where you’ll want to be. Unless you’re not into playing ping-pong, foosball, pool, air hockey, hanging out with friends and having a million laughs (because those are some of the things that happen here).

And every day after.

You’ll also want to check out happenings throughout the week, like cultural connections, study breaks, thin series, outdoor adventure series and other programs hosted by the student-run Duquesne Program Council (DPC)—like tie dye and bingo nights.

Going somewhere?

Three words: take the bus. Every Friday and Saturday night, a free Loop Bus travels from campus to the South Side, Oakland and Waterfront areas for shopping, dining and nightlife. It’s free and easy to use. (Did we mention it’s free?)

There are plenty of ways to live it up.
Join the club.
(Or do something else entirely.)

Run for student government. Take a lead role on the stage. Join the intramural soccer team. There are more than 250 student organizations on campus. So find your thing. Get in with your crowd. And get involved.

Greek life is a vibrant part of campus life at Duquesne. Rush in the spring, build camaraderie with your peers, do fun service-learning projects, and give back to the community.

I'm a proud member of Duquesne's Alpha Sigma Tea sorority, and it's awesome to have my sisters on campus.

Your home away from home.
Live, study and make friends for life.

A living learning center is our version of a residence hall—only it’s much more than a place to study, hang out and sleep. It’s the epicenter of your personal experience on campus, the place where you’ll grow into your own and make friends for life.

However you get here, you’re part of the family.

If you choose to live at home and commute, you’re still a big part of what’s happening on campus. So get involved. Every Wednesday, get free PB&J for lunch, served by Duquesne faculty and staff (even President Ken Gormley stops by from time to time). And if you need anything at all, stop by the Commuter Center in the Union—a great space with study rooms, a computer lab, a kitchenette and other helpful resources to support you.

Taking care of you.
The Center for Student Wellbeing has that covered.

If you feel good and feel healthy, you’ll have a better shot at achieving everything you can during your college experience. That’s what Duquesne’s Center for Student Wellbeing is all about: helping you be well, feel well and live well.

Health Services
Something not quite right? Make an appointment at Health Service in the Union and be seen by a physician or nurses who can treat illness and injury, provide immunizations and allergy injections, and so much more.

Dive in.
We also have an Olympic-sized swimming pool with open swim hours in Duquesne Towers.
Your taste buds will be happy.

Great food. Tons of choices!

We’re serious about our food.

At Duquesne, high quality refers to more than the education. We’re serious about our food. Fresh food that’s made from scratch, menus that emphasize fresh fruits and vegetables, and ingredients sourced locally when in season—eating at Duquesne is definitely not your ordinary college dining experience.

Each of our 11 dining locations has its own mix of fresh menu selections, which feature local and sustainable food sources and special options for every diet:

Hogan Dining Center is our all-you-care-to-eat dining hall—and it’s anything but your traditional campus fare. Different stations feature a Mongolian grill, daily specials, fresh-made burgers and pizza, vegan and vegetarian options, and so much more.

Head to the Union for Chick-fil-A and Cinco Cantina, or grab a made-to-order salad or burger from the Incline.

And then there’s our signature Red Ring Bar & Grille, a casual dining spot, and Freshëns, where you can get crepes, frozen yogurt, smoothies and salads.

Don’t forget to stock up on dorm essentials at our on-campus convenience store, Campus Market.

And of course, the college essential—coffee. You can fuel up at our on-campus Starbucks, our Barnes & Noble Café, Coffee Tree Roasters or Rockwell Market.

Go Dukes!
We’ve got spirit. How ‘bout you?

A valid student ID is all you’ll need to attend the game and cheer on Duquesne’s 17 NCAA Division I athletics teams. Make sure you’re part of the crowd as the Dukes—an original member of the Atlantic 10 Conference—add to their 248 individual and team conference championships.

2017-18 HIGHLIGHTS
- The women’s swimming and diving team captured their first ever Atlantic 10 Championship, earning Coach of the Year and Most Outstanding Rookie Performer honors. In total, the Dukes tallied 17 medals in 20 events, including four golds, two silvers and five bronzes.
- Two former Duquesne football athletes and a former men’s basketball athlete signed professional contracts with the Steelers, Broncos and Houston Rockets.
- The women’s basketball team advanced to their tenth-straight postseason appearance and Round 3 of the WNIT.
- A Duquesne bowling freshman earned the program its first ever All-American honors, and just the second freshman in school history to do so. The freshman was recognized at an NTSA Honorable Mention All-American.
- The second-year bowling program finished the 2017-18 season ranked No. 19 in the National Tenpin Coaches Association Top 25.
- A senior on the men’s basketball team represented Duquesne and the A-10 conference in the inaugural 3-on-3 tournament played in conjunction with the Final Four in San Antonio.
- For the third time in six years, Duquesne Athletics, in partnership with PPG Paints Arena and SportsPittsburgh, hosted the First and Second Rounds of the DI NCAA Men’s Basketball Championship, resulting in two days of sold-out crowds and nearly $8.36 million in economic stimulus to the city of Pittsburgh.
- In the community, Duquesne student-athletes continued to spread the Spiritan mission, tallying over 2,700 hours of community service.
- Duquesne student-athletes also excelled in the classroom, posting a combined 3.26 GPA.

An education that challenges you. The values that guide you. A location that inspires you. A community that welcomes you. And an experience that will define you.

That’s exactly what you’ll find at Duquesne University.
A Duquesne education is within your reach.

If you decide that Duquesne is where you belong, we will do everything possible to create a workable plan for financing your education. Don’t let published tuition costs deter you! When you apply for admission, you’ll be automatically considered for a scholarship. Duquesne invests $271.6 million in our undergraduate students each year through University-based scholarships, and total aid from all sources exceeds $188 million.

You can be confident that a Duquesne education will pay dividends over a lifetime. Not only will you gain career preparation and skills to make you stand out, you can feel good knowing that Duquesne is ranked for its commitment to academic excellence by U.S. News & World Report that Duquesne is ranked for its commitment to academic excellence by Princeton Review, and others.

You can be confident that a Duquesne education will pay dividends over a lifetime.

A complete application includes:
• Online application
• 520 application fee (waived if you apply by Dec. 15)
• Official high school transcripts (with senior coursework included)
• Official SAT and/or ACT scores (Business, Liberal Arts, and Music applicants can apply test-optional)
• Letter of recommendation and/or personal essay for some health professions programs. See program requirements.

More information, including an application checklist, minimum standardized test scores, and deadlines, can be found at duq.edu/apply

Each applicant is considered individually. We evaluate high school academic performance, standardized test scores, personal character, and extracurricular activities. For most programs, a 3.0 cumulative GPA and competitive standardized test scores are required. Science programs (including all Health Sciences) require a higher GPA and standardized test score. In addition, leadership experience, community involvement, extracurricular activities, and job shadowing are highly recommended for all majors, especially for Health Sciences programs.

Transfer and International Students Special conditions apply.

Each applicant is considered individually. We evaluate high school academic performance, standardized test scores, personal character, and extracurricular activities. For most programs, a 3.0 cumulative GPA and competitive standardized test scores are required. Science programs (including all Health Sciences) require a higher GPA and standardized test score. In addition, leadership experience, community involvement, extracurricular activities, and job shadowing are highly recommended for all majors, especially for Health Sciences programs.

Transfer and International Students Special conditions apply.

If you decide that Duquesne is where you belong, we will do everything possible to create a workable plan for financing your education. Don’t let published tuition costs deter you!
