Integrity of Creation Conference (IOC): Building a Sustainable World
A Virtual Conference via zoom, Sep. 29-30, 2020
www.duq.edu/ioc

The Conference Workshops combine different classes to enable students to actively participate in the conference by showcasing their scholarship and research.

There are three ways in which students can participate:

1. Conference Presentations.
   A few selected students from classes participating in the IOC Conference Workshops will be selected by their Course Instructor to present a 1-slide Poster. These students will have 5 minutes to explain their Poster during the virtual Conference Workshops. These 1-slide Posters also will be available in the Conference Poster Virtual Display (on the Conference website). See the submission timeline and guidelines under the section on PowerPoint Planning on the conference website.

2. Conference Posters.
   All the other students in the participating classes in each Conference Workshop may submit a Poster for the virtual Conference Poster Display on Sep. 30, 3:00-5:00pm. See the guidelines under the section on PowerPoint Planning on the conference website.

3. Conference Publications.
   All students participating in the Conference Workshops are encouraged to submit an essay (such as their course research paper) to be considered for inclusion in the published Conference Proceedings. See the section on Writing Guidelines on the conference website.
