Abstract: Ecology, Peace and Justice

This project’s purpose is to show the connection between ecology, peace, and justice in the sense of our environment. Ecology is the relationships between different organisms and their environment. Ecology is related to peace and justice because in order for our world to be in perfect harmony we have to learn to respect our environment and live in communion with it. Pope Francis talks about this communion with our environment in his address to the United Nations in 2015. In order to have perfect harmony in our world we need to have peace in all aspects, especially in the aspects that we overlook and ones that fall victim to humans having false power. We only have one earth, so our respect and reverence of it, is of the utmost importance.
