Abstract: The Globe is Our Home—Keeping Our Earth Safe

Billions of people live on the earth, and, form what is known, there is no other planet like it. Human life is distinct to earth alone, and while there are many people living here, it is a common home for all of us. However, humans have endangered their home throughout history, and now more than ever. Large corporations exploit the earth as if it is some sort of commodity that can be bought or sold. Through this, these companies have made massive profits from it. Companies like Coca-Cola, Exxon, and BP abuse and ruin land that is not theirs to begin with. No company or person is entitled to abuse the earth and put impoverished people at harm. We are all called to take care of and protect the earth and not abuse it for monetary gain.
