ABSTRACT

Poster Title: Communication Between Families and Teachers Helps Build A Sustainable World

Student Name & email: Paige Conrad/ Conradp@duq.edu

Course Faculty Name: Dr. Deborah Scigliano

Course Title & Number: Introduction to Critical Education LTFL 110

Communication between families and teachers is essential; without it, the students can’t grow and develop. When communicating between the home and school, ideas and thoughts about what is best for the child are relayed to one another. This provides an intentional outcome that will lead the child in the right direction to a successful education. It is important to focus on the positive outcomes of communication in order to educate society on its importance. The purpose of this poster is to show society the positive effects of communication.